The Department of English offers courses intended to help students write clearly and effectively and to read literature with critical appreciation. All students take courses in expository writing and selected literary works.

The major in English prepares students to enter such careers as education, law, business, Christian ministry, writing, editing, research, library science, public relations, travel, civil service, and administration. The major also prepares for graduate-level studies in English. Creative writers will find opportunity in Parnassus, a literary magazine published each spring semester. The January interterm offers a tour to London, England, that combines the study of British literature with visits to important literary and historical sites.

The Bachelor of Arts degree requires completion of two years of one foreign language. The Bachelor of Science degree must be combined with education or systems analysis.

The major in English is offered with a concentration in either Literature or Creative Writing, or in both if there are no overlaps except for ENG 212, ENG 493, and one foundational core survey course.

English—Literature Concentration (BA)

The Bachelor of Arts degree in English with a concentration in Literature requires two years of sequential college-level study in one foreign language and at least 43 hours in addition to ENG 110 Expository Writing. All major courses, including those in the concentration, must be completed with a grade of C- or better and are included in the major GPA.
